GLADIOLI FOR YOUR GARDEN

Grown by
Chas. B. Raffauf, INDEPENDENCE, IOWA
IN many places throughout the country one still finds the old fashioned yellow centered red and the pale, sickly pink Gladiolus blossoming more or less bravely on the sunny side of the house. They are like the old folk who will not give up until they are obliged to do so, but who fear to go far from home. Now that the Gladiolus has become so popular it is, indeed, astonishing that any one will spend the time planting and harvesting such purely inferior sorts.

At the same time, it is difficult for the modern Gladiolus admirer to realize that these conservative colors at the hands of patient, thoughtful hybridists and with Nature's bountiful sunshine have been so marvelously changed and varied. The glorious Gladiolus being introduced by the modern flower specialists are symbolic of youth, agility and prosperity. Transformed are the modest by-gones to the mammoth beauties of to-day. They blossom forth in most delicately ruffled hues as well as in colors of richest shades, often as vivid as finest tapestries with which they associate on stated occasions. They are stately enough for the most formal society, gladsomely common enough to cheer the most humble home and certainly various enough to match every color scheme in existence.

Let us not stop this riot of floral beauty over the land. But rather, let us grow Gladioli in consistently greater numbers, that these MODERN SENTINELS OF GLADNESS may find a place in every Hospital and every sick-room; in more homes, more private and public receptions and more places of public worship; in more municipal floral parades and in many, many more of the places in this old world where sadness or monotony pervade the atmosphere.

In presenting this catalogue to our customers and friends we offer only standard varieties and such of the newest creations which have been tested by us. We trust our prices will please you. We take great pleasure in our big garden and, herewith, offer you the opportunity of enjoying OUR garden beauties in YOUR OWN home garden.

HARDY PHLOXES.

Among the hardy perennial plants, no class is of more importance than the Phloxes. They are of the easiest culture, flowering well in almost any soil or location. Of course, they require some sunlight; either morning or afternoon sun suits them nicely. The plants produce a wealth of flowers from early summer until late fall. For the best results the clump should be divided and reset after the third year. We have found the following varieties to be strong growers and offer healthy two year roots at prices indicated:

Phlox Independence — Large pure white, each ........................................... 25
Champs Elysee — Rich magneta or reddish purple ............................................. 25
Phlox LaVogue — Splendid lavender-pink ......................................................... 25
Phlox Pink Beauty — Large, pink, light eye ....................................................... 23
Phlox Thor — Large salmon pink, excellent ....................................................... 25
R. P. Struthers — Rosy carmine, claret-red eye .............................................. 25
Lavender — Pure lavender, tall ........................................................................... 25
Pearl — Purest white, tall grower ................................................................. 25
Phlox Wanadis — Light pink .............................................................................. 25

The old hoe is a wonderful tool but the Barker Weeder and Cultivator beats ten hoes in the hands of ten men. The BARKER MFG. CO. of DAVID CITY, NEBRASKA will send you a catalogue and prices.

The Flower Grower, a monthly floral magazine, published by MADISON COOPER, CALCIUM, N. Y. is the most up-to-date authority on the culture of the Gladiolus, the Iris, the Rose, the Dahlia, etc. that you will find. Subscription price $1.50 per year. See our Special Combination Offer.

The American Gladiolus Society, a National Society, needs your support. The Annual Dues, including subscription to The Flower Grower, are $2.00. Mr. John C. Davis, 77 South Ave., Rochester, N. Y. is the present Secretary.

If you spray Glads, and are looking for a Spreader and Adhesive, write CALIFORNIA CENTRAL CREAMERIES, Inc. 175 Franklin St., NEW YORK CITY. “KAYSO” is the product you want.

Liberal EXTRAS will be added to your order if you send us the addresses of friends interested in growing gladioli.
The Gladiolus, The King of Flowers

Do you grow Gladiolus in your garden? Can you grow the sturdy, beautiful spikes such as you see in your Florist's windows? Do you know what it means to you to save and grow your cormels? Did you ever realize the vast amount of pleasure there is in growing this flower from seed? If you have not realized all these pleasures, is it because of lack of knowledge? There is no secret to them. If you belong to the American Gladiolus Society you will receive its official Magazine which explains all these things and teaches you how to grow them as good as the professional. The Magazine will also teach you the best varieties and the proper colors to grow for different effects and purposes.

Why have nearly three thousand amateurs joined the Society in the past five years? It is "in search of knowledge" and the best place to find it is in the columns of the A. G. S. Official Bulletin which is sent free to members.

The Garden Magazine & Home Builder is published in a 20-acre garden—a vast experimental station. Here every new plant, new spray and insecticide and new cultural method is tested. The results come to you each month in this reliable, fully illustrated periodical. It helps with every phase of garden work in every kind of a garden.

Beginning with its September issue, this magazine was enlarged, its policy broadened, its name changed to Garden Magazine & Home Builder,—to help with the house as well as with the garden. With more garden material than ever, this is the best garden and home magazine published.
